A 44-year-old Unam lecturer, who allegedly shot and injured two men on Monday night in Rundu's Kehemu location, was denied bail by the Rundu Magistrate's Court yesterday.

Nelson Antonio, an education lecturer at the University of Namibia (Unam) Rundu campus, appeared on two counts of attempted murder.

The matter was postponed until 15 January 2019 for further police investigations and for Antonio to acquire legal representation. According to a police report, the incident happened at around 22:30 in Kehemu location. Antonio allegedly shot and wounded two men who are receiving treatment in the Rundu state hospital.
