

the communities, the Ministry of Environment and Tourism, the Special Forces Unit, NACSO Natural Resource Working Group, NamPols Protected Resources Unit, Integrated Rural Development and Nature Conservation (IRDNC), the Kunene Rhino Protection Unit, Rhino Rangers and WWF-Namibia in protecting the black rhinos of the Kunene Region.

Keetmans considers new UNAM campus

The CEO of the Keetmanshoop Municipality, Desmond Basson (centre) joined a meeting of the Student Representative Council of UNAM's southern campus earlier this month to discuss issues affecting the students and their studies.

Under serious discussion was the development of the land that the Keetmanshoop Municipality has made available for the construction of a Main Campus in the Noodhoek residential area. The Speaker of the SRC Parliament, Kennedy Kandji expressed his gratitude for the assistance received from the municipality in general and in particular in the guidance and counsel from the CEO.

the Ohlthaver & List values, we have become a family and we speak the same language which eliminates some of the unnecessary challenges” because the willingness to support local products is there. So, I consider myself more of a role model and an ambassador than a celebrity.”

With all these achievements Nyathi is still inspired by other women who never give up and work hard at achieving their goals and she strongly believes that she can achieve anything she sets her mind on.

“I have decided that I will not be defined by my illness but it will have to adjust to my lifestyle,” emphasised Nyathi.

She has run the Maetria Medical Centre with her husband since 2010 and has opened the Daisho sushi and wine bar in partnership with Ngobamakhosi Mhlanga because they saw potential and a need for more sushi bars. She also owns Scarlet Fashion as she loves fashion and would love to provide an exclusive and personalized retail experience to the ladies of Windhoek. “The start up capital for my businesses was raised through sheer hard work, we never got any loans from any bank and that translates to a great sense of accomplishment,” she said.

She advised women not to be you are never stop dreaming” the stars,” she added.

In the future she would like to mentor some aspiring busi-who concluded by advising women to never give an excuse for who they are.

Barbara Nyathi, a psychologist, businesswoman, wife, cancer survivor and volunteer is not afraid to chase after her dreams.